NEWS OF MILLERSBURG

Harrison Stewart, colored, aged about 65, died Thursday of acute indigestion. During the day he was apparently in good health. He was employed as a domestic in the home of Mr. J. G. Allen. In the afternoon of the day of his death he was picking pears. About four o'clock he came to the house with about two baskets of pears. After Mr. Allen and son, S. M. Allen, returned home from the bank they found that "Uncle Harrison," as he was called, had not done his evening work. Mr. S. M. Allen called him and receiving no reply went out in search of him. He was found in the garden under the pear tree where he had fallen forward in a crouching position, with a basket on either side of him. Life had been extinct but for a short time, as the body was still warm and limp. "Uncle Harrison" was a popular colored man and well thought of by both white and colored. He was a devoted member of the colored Baptist church and was polite and gentlemanly in his deportment. He was a native of Lincoln county, but had been employed as a domestic in the Allen home for a number of years. He was buried Sunday afternoon in the colored cemetery, after services at the colored Baptist church.

NORTH MIDDLETOWN CHURCH DEDICATED.

edifices to be found in any rural district. It is beautifully located on a large lot that has a frontage of 300 feet and a depth of 600 feet, well graded and terraced. Concrete walks and drives of crushed stone have been laid wherever necessary. The church is built of concrete bricks with freestone foundation forming the first story. Broad digits of concrete steps lead up to the vestibule, which is supported by large pillars. Apertochere, the roof supported by white pillars, is on each side of the church, and the whole has a metal roof with a dome in the center of the main part.

The main auditorium is a beautiful, well-lighted room, having a balcony supported with white columns extending around three sides. The baptistry is on the left side of the pulpit and the organ loft on the right while the large pipe organ occupies the recess back of the pulpit. The main room has a seating capacity of 350, and the balcony 250, making a total seating capacity of 600.

On the same floor with the auditorium are the pastor's study, a commodious room and the ladies' parlor, which is cozy and attractive. In the lower story is the Sunday School assembly room furnished with opera chairs and the pulpit furniture from the old church.

The former church building which has been replaced by the handsome new edifice, was erected in 1842, and its walls have resounded with eloquent sermons exhortations from the lips of some of the most noted preachers of this denomination, viz: Aylette Rains, Moses E. Lard, Robert Graham, John T. Johnston, C. M. Arnold, E. V. Zollers, William McGarvey and others. Elder L. H. Reynolds was pastor of the church for about six years, but on account of advancing age he resigned, and was succeeded by Elder W. S. Willis. Elder J. W. Ligon was the beloved pastor until his resignation about two years ago, and Elder Christopherson is the present pastor.

It is not known what disposition the members will make of the old building, but it will likely be used for a hall where lectures and entertainments may be given.

The new church is beautifully decorated. In the main auditorium the walls are tinted a delicate green, the ceiling and dome being cream color with border in harmonizing tints, with the softly colored art windows.

The entire floor is covered with a velvet carpet in two tones of green, moire pattern. This and some of the furnishings were the gift of the women of the congregation, who raised $1,200 among themselves. The comfortable pews are in mahogany finish as is the organ with its gilded pipes.

The elegant pulpit furniture, consisting of the reading desk, three large leather chairs, communion table and two chairs, all in mahogany, was the generous gift of Mr. John T. Hinton, of Paris.

Sixteen beautiful memorial windows grace the church which were donated by the following: Mr. W. S. Jones, Mrs. Ed. Rice, Judge H. C. Smith, Mrs. Thomas Helm Clay and Mrs. J. W. Thomas, Mr. Lunceford Talbott, Mrs. William Collins, children of Mr. J. W. Young, Miss Lina Bratton, Eli Dooley, Mr. Geo. Roberts and Mrs. Roberts, Charles E. Rice, Miss Carrie Berry and Mrs. F. P. Lowry, J. J. Redmon, A. S. Trimble, Collins family, Building Committee of the church, and Washington Lodge F. & A. M.

The large, sweet-toned organ was the gift of the young men of the congregation, and cost the sum of $2,000.

The architect of this beautiful structure, who was also the contractor, was W. K. Hagan, a resident of North Middletown, and one of the deacons of the congregation.

Every department of the church work is in a flourishing condition. The Sunday School is one of the best to be found anywhere, under the capable superintendency of Mr. John Willie Jones and the C. W. B. M. has a large membership.

The total cost of the church was $25,000 and it was raised with very little trouble. The contributions were willingly and cheerfully paid, and not a dollar asked for at the dedication, which is unusual and remarkable.

The officers of the church are as follows: Elders—W. S. Jones, J. W. Young, H. C. Smith, John T. Collins, Jno. W. Jones, Dr. L. R. Henry.

EDITION OF JACKSON TIMES THROWN INTO KENTUCKY RIVER

The half-printed edition of the Jackson Times was taken from the office Thursday night by unknown parties and thrown into the Kentucky River. The office force next morning fished the papers out of the stream and finished printing the edition. The paper contained some very strong Democratic editorials pertaining to the political fight that is being waged in that county, and it is claimed the Republicans getting wind the papers would be circulated the next day entered the office and took the papers, throwing them in the stream.

Republicans disclaim any knowledge of the outrage and claim the Democrats committed the act for effect.

THEATRICAL.

"The Children of To-day" at Ben Ali. The new Ben Ali theatre, at Lexington, will have as its attraction on Monday, Oct. 27, "The Children of To-day," under the direction of Messrs. Shubert, with Mr. Louis Mann in the leading role.

"Children of To-day" is a modern comedy. Mrs. Wakefield, a widow, with two children, Vincent and Anita, aged seventeen and eighteen, finds herself unable to control her offspring. They are in fact, children of today and pay little attention to their mother and run things to suit themselves. The mother is in love with an old friend of the family, Mr. Randolph, but when the two children interview him, he is promptly rejected as not measuring up to their qualifications as to what amodern father and husband should be. But here the wise Mr. Randolph set out to outwit the children and he does so to the great amusement of the widow, to say nothing of that of the audience. Mr. Mann himself rehearsed the company and staged the production.

Mr. Mann's supporting company is one of unusual merit. His leading woman is Miss Emily Ann Wellman, well known for her excellent support of Mr. Mann for the past four years. Others in the company include John Hines, Adoni Fevier, Frank R. Stirling, Maud Turner Gordon and Margaret Templeton.

ELEVEN MILLION INCREASE IN L. & N. FRANCHISE VALUATION.

Judge Cochran, in Federal Court, at Frankfort, Friday, handed down an opinion that the L. & N. should pay taxes on $11,000,000 more before it is entitled to a temporary injunction restraining the State from collecting taxes on the amount its 1912 assessment was diminished over the year previous.

This is just half the amount the State Board of Valuation and Assessment assessed it, and is doubtless the amount the road conceded to be a fair assessment.

Incidentally, Judge Cochran said he had no doubt the property of the L. & N. was worth what the Board assessed it, $74,598,451, but whether such a value can be worked out by pursuing the method prescribed by the statute is a question.

He found the amount, which he said the road must pay before he grants the injunction, by taking 70 per cent. of this valuation of $74,598,451, and deducting from it the tangible assessment and the amount the road paid on its franchise assessment when it brought suit.

He referred to the fact that in the rate case in 1906, in which the road complained of reduced rates fixed by the Railroad Commission, it alleged that its road, then 229 miles shorter than it is now, was worth $70,599,484.41.

In 1911 the L. & N. paid on a franchise value of $11,899,200, but in 1912 this was raised to $54,428,074 by the State Board of Valuation and Assessment.

This decision of Judge Cochran, therefore, puts the amount of the franchise valuation at $22,899,930.
